The pace of growth in the West End area has slowed slightly but it is still one of the fastest growing areas in that state.

All valley cities await big growth

By RICHARD PERAZA
Staff Writer

Despite serenely shaded neighborhoods, acres of open fields and casual atmosphere here, newcomers to the valley had best be prepared for one thing in nearly every city: growth.

In all likelihood, it was a half decade of unprecedented growth which brought them here and the same trends are expected to bring tens of thousands more in the next decade.

The 1980 U.S. Census revealed that only one West End city failed to grow at a furious rate between 1970 and 1980. Although nearly 1,100 new homes were built in Montclair, the population officially shrank 3.7 percent from 22,546 to 21,716.

No other city had that kind of stability.

Ontario had the next lowest growth rate — about 32 percent — but that meant an influx of more than 20,000 people. Population figures went from 64,118 to 84,784.

Upland boasted a 39 percent growth rate, from 32,551 to 45,321 and Chino's population swelled from 20,411 to 39,265 — a full 92 percent.

Despite the impressive figures, no area was hit harder by growth than Rancho Cucamonga. Just three years old, the city was forged in growth.

It's population mushroomed an incredible 235 percent, from 16,043 to 53,777.

But the Census data was taken in January 1980 and while that information was processed the West End grew some more.

Ontario now boasts more than 92,000 residents. Rancho Cucamonga has 56,700, Upland 48,950, Chino 41,350 and Montclair 23,500. Those figures aren't just wishful thinking, they're from the "Population Research Unit of the state Department of Finance."

West End planners say the valley's growing pains began around 1975, when builders who were frustrated with high property prices in Los Angeles and Orange counties turned their attention to this area.

Growth is no longer unbridled. The pace has slowed but the West End is still one of the fastest growing areas in the state and that makes it one of the most active in the nation.

The Ontario Motor Speedway is being torn down to make way for two international centers.

Rancho Cucamonga is in the enviable position of having to keep a tight rein on growth. "We're three, going on four and since incorporation (in 1978) we've been developing growth management procedures," Michael Vairin, the city's senior planner, said. "Everyone was afraid the rapid pace of growth was going to affect services."

Now no new homes may be built without letters of certification stating there is water and sewer capacity and room in the schools for the newcomers they'll bring, he said.

"There were about 8,000 (applications for homes to be built) submitted last year and about 3,000 tentatively approved," he said.

Even so, two huge projects — 2,000-acre Victoria and 1,300-acre Terra Vista — have been approved and each is expected to include about 8,500 homes plus commercial areas within 20 years, Vairin said. "The potential for that area just between those two projects is phenomenal."

Rancho Cucamonga has thousands of acres of industrial land available and was able to boast dozens of industries even before incorporation. Vairin said nearly 1,000 acres of new industrial development is now in various stages of construction.

He said the city's commercial development has mostly been small shops and neighborhood shopping centers but major stores, a Gemco and a K-Mart, are now in the works as well.

Ontario's growth rate has slowed but it's far from a standstill, according to planning assistant Paul Clark. So far this year, 413 new homes have been built.

In fact, he said, available residential land unbought by major developers is all but gone now. The last general plan housing element, suggested rezoning some industrial land in the southeast portion of the city for residential uses. "The consultants are working on that and will come up with some recommendations pretty quick," Clark said.

Most of Ontario's present growth is now commercial and industrial, he said. "I think the airport expansion had a lot to do with that."

The biggest projects in Ontario are now Creekside, a 2,500-home development in South Ontario and the Meredith and Ontario international centers.

Together the centers will sprawl over nearly 1,500 acres where the old Ontario Motor Speedway once stood. They'll take 30 years to develop into massive commercial-industrial-residential complexes.

Upland is expecting a 57,000 population by 1985 and 61,000 residents by 1990, according to assistant planner James Daniels.

Because of soaring interest rates, home construction has slowed the last six months but the city still looks forward to more growth, he said.

"As far as industry's concerned right now we don't have a lot of exact figures but we've looked at quite a few industrial projects," he said.

The city is concentrating more on commercial development, according to Daniels. "It's really booming in this town now. It's pretty astounding the amount of square footage we've been looking at."

Upland, he said, has "a unique topography" which has left it with little vacant land for future developments. As a result, the city often annexes when it needs to expand. "Right now we're looking at three or four more annexations and we've already processed two this year."

Area has variety of health centers

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Health care services in the West End include free preventive medicine programs, a top-rated prepaid health care plan, two complete osteopathic hospitals and a local Level II Trauma Center paramedic base station.

Yet these health care services continue to grow, offering more complete and efficient care with each addition.

Kaiser Foundation Hospital opened its Preventive Medicine Building last summer, a long-awaited addition. Kaiser is the largest of the West End's eight hospitals.

The new building houses a complete health evaluation unit, allowing physicians to perform a thorough physical examination without moving the patient from room to room.

Also in this building, monthly Health Topic Seminars are held, free public information forums. A new series of talks begins each month. This building also houses classes in behavior modification for smokers and the overweight, managing diabetes and cardiac rehabilitation.

While most patients are members of the prepaid Kaiser-Permanente Medical Care Program, the hospital also treats non-members under a physician's care. The hospital has 479 beds, 1,700 personnel and 202 physicians to serve West End residents.

Kaiser operates local clinics, including the medical clinic at 1025 W.I. St. in Ontario, the psychiatric clinic at 222 N. Mountain Ave. in Upland and the medical clinic on Indian Hill Boulevard in Claremont.

Pomona Valley Community Hospital in Pomona also offers a prepaid health care program, which was begun in July 1979. Membership now totals 5,742.

Pomona Valley is well known for its Cancer Treatment Center, which is approved by the American College of Surgeons. The center completed 5,147 cancer treatments last year.

The hospital is continuing a number of programs under its "Wellness Program," a plan for preventive medicine. Two years of planning went into a medically supervised physical fitness program where persons under a physician's care work out at a gymnasium within the hospital.

A popular program is the "All That Jazz" dancercise class which meets twice a week to build cardio-vascular fitness. It costs $18 for eight sessions. Persons can call the hospital at 623-8715, extension 2135, for more information and to register for the class.

Pomona Valley is a Level II Trauma Center and is a paramedic base station. The hospital has 389 beds and 1,200 personnel. Sixteen doctors were added this year, bringing the total to 272 physicians on staff.

Pomona Valley boasts some unique additions, including 10 more beds in its alcoholism treatment center and a Clinotron bed. This bed is ideal for burn patients and some major surgery patients, permitting greater ease of movement with little energy.

The San Bernardino County Medical Center in San Bernardino is also a center on staff. Each is associated with the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific in Pomona.

Area hospitals, health facilities abound

Level II Trauma Center, complete with surgeons ready 24 hours for any emergency. The hospital's burn unit, used by physicians across the country, is the West End's base for burn emergencies.

This 338-bed hospital has 116 physicians on staff, 56 of whom are residents in post-graduate training from the University of California, Los Angeles. In addition to the burn unit, the hospital also has a recognized neonatal unit for care of newborns.

To bring those infants into the world for less cost, San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland opened its Alternative Birth Unit last summer. Here mothers labor, deliver and recover in the same room and the hospital stay is shortened. About 12 babies are delivered monthly.

San Antonio has 327 beds with 280 physicians on staff. Construction of a $17 million two-story addition began last year. It will house an expanded surgical unit, coronary care and intensive care units.

San Antonio provides free preventive medicine via the telephone. West End residents may dial 946-2828 for tape-recorded information on a variety of health care subjects. For a free brochure on available topics, write the hospital at 999 San Bernardino Road, Upland 91786.

Ontario Community Hospital also has free public health education and has organized it into a unique program.

Industrial Accident Management Seminars began last summer to instruct employers in accident prevention techniques. Project director Gloria Kassel said four seminars were held during the first year and another has been tentatively scheduled for September.

Industrial employers interested in participating should call Kassel at 985-2811.

The newest program in community health education at Ontario Community is a wellness program set to begin this fall. Information directed primarily at senior citizens and low-income residents will be presented in public forums, including seminars on the effects of alcohol, a proper diet and proper use of the hospital emergency room.

Ontario Community will offer a free "back to school" immunization program Sept. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Civic Center Community Building, 225 E. B St. Also, Ontario Community will host the annual Health Fair for the second year at the community building multipurpose room. Last year more than 650 residents attended.

The hospital has 99 beds and 128 physicians on staff. There are 275 personnel to serve its patients.

Like Ontario Community, Doctors' Hospital in Montclair has one of the most active obstetrics units in the West End. It delivers about 160 babies each month.

Among the advances in technical equipment for the OB unit will be an Ultra-Sound machine. This will allow physicians to watch moving pictures of the fetus via harmless sonar.

Doctors' Hospital has 99 beds and 250 physicians, including provisional staff.

Doctors' Hospital has also added new monitoring equipment in both its intensive care and coronary care units. Plans for interior remodeling and possible expansion are being set for the coming year.

Doctors' Hospital of Montclair is holding a free child immunization clinic Sept. 12 complete with clowns and balloons.

Chino Community Hospital also has an active obstetrics unit, as well as an active emergency room. About 1,400 of the hospital's 2,000 patients each month come through emergency.

Chino Community offers savings on minor surgery with its outpatient surgery program. For some types of minor surgery an overnight stay is not required, saving the patient money.

Chino Community has 118 beds and 150 physicians on staff.

Park Avenue and Garfield-Cottage Hospitals in Pomona offer the only osteopathic care in the West End. Both are complete osteopathic hospitals, offering a system of health care that treats the whole person, not just the disease.

Combined, the hospitals have 72 beds and 36 physicians. Concluded on Page 10

County includes cities, mountains, desert

How do you provide a variety of public services for the largest county in the United States?

That's a question the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors grapples with annually during budget hearings and, quite often, during weekly board meetings.

San Bernardino County, more than 21,000 square miles in area, is twice the size of any of California's other 57 counties and larger than nine states.

The county's vast desert region bordering Nevada and Arizona accounts for much of the area.

But empty spaces are filling up. From a population of 628,000 in 1970, the county grew 893,157, according to 1980 census. San Bernardino County ranks as the sixth most populous county in the state.

About one-third of the county's residents live in the West End.

One way to understand county government is to know where the money comes from. State and federal funds provide half the revenue for countywide programs.

Much of what the county does reaches the poor, the needy and those in trouble with the law — not in services directly affecting the average resident. Welfare and social services, law enforcement, court operations and health care take up about 70 percent of the funds spent by county government.

The overall county budget for 1981-82 tops $560 million. In unincorporated areas, the county provides municipal services. Since the incorporation of Rancho Cucamonga in 1977, relatively few West End residents rely on the county for municipal services. Nearly all of the West End's population lives in its five cities.

However, the county, joining with residents and property owners, is playing an important role in the planning for the future of the unincorporated Chino Hills. A specific plan to guide development of some 18,000 acres is being prepared.

County government is a myriad of boards, commissions, committees, departments, agencies and special districts.

But ultimate responsibility for the running of county government rests with the Board of Supervisors. The supervisors represent five geographic districts of the county of roughly equal population. They meet Mondays in San Bernardino, the county seat since creation of the county in 1853.

Supervisor Robert Townsend represents the fourth district, which includes Chino, Montclair, the Chino Hills and the southern portions of Ontario and Fontana.

Supervisor Cal McElwain represents the second district, which includes Rancho Cucamonga, Upland and the northern parts of Ontario and Fontana.

Years ago, when West End residents needed county services, they usually had to travel to San Bernardino. That situation has gradually changed.

In 1958, the first county branch office building was complete at Mountain Avenue and Sixth Street in Ontario, the site of the present West Valley court complex.

The building was one of several paid for by construction bonds approved in 1956 and repaid from shares of local governments' sales taxes.

Branch office buildings for county government were completed in Chino in 1976 and Ontario in 1977.

Rancho Cucamonga is the future site of the West Valley Law and Justice Center, to be located next to City Hall.

Supervisors appoint a county administrative officer who is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of county government.

Earl Goodwin resigned from that position in 1980 for health reasons. Robert Rigney — who has held a variety of positions, including assistant county administrative officer, during his more than 20 years in county government — was appointed by the board to assume the top administrative post.

Following a reorganization last year, county government is divided into four agencies. Many, but not all, of the county departments are under an agency.

The agencies are Health Care Services, Human Resources, General Services and Environmental Public Works.

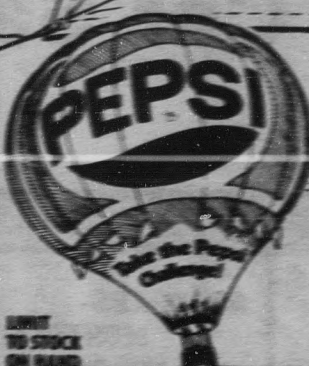

Further reorganization plans are being studied.

West End transportation varies widely

No matter the destination, there is a form of transportation available in the West End to get you there.

two or three days in advance; the Airport Express van will pick up passengers at their door. The service will pick up and deliver people in wheelchairs, but requires that the handicapped person

Persons in wheelchairs may call 620-1902 for Dial-a-Lift; general fare for this door-to-door service is 50 cents, and one escort may Bernardino to the Montclair Plaza Aug. 24. These buses will stop only at the Kaiser Hospital and OIA, speeding deliveries to the four most popular OmniTrans destinations. Fares will depend on the distance traveled.

Increased demand for OmniTrans service in the West End has resulted in plans for a new maintenance facility near the Montclair Plaza in three years.

For rides outside the county, many are discovering the local Amtrak station. Located at passenger trains to destinations across the country. For information and reservations, call 800-648-3850.

An air show held at OIA this year.

Airport is served by 13 major airlines with destinations around the world. In addition, several cargo carriers fly out of OIA daily. The new runway, opened last April, allows jumbo jets to land daily. Although the economy has slowed annual traffic to about 2 million passengers, airport officials expect to someday serve 12 million passengers each year.

These additional passengers will come as residential growth continues and as Los Angeles International Airport becomes more crowded, airport officials say. To deal with these passengers, a 700,000 square foot terminal is planned to augment the existing 60,000 square foot terminal. This development will depend on an expanding economy, and the results of a ground access study now underway.

Parking at the airport costs 50 cents for 3 hours and $4 per day. An auxiliary lot charges $1.50 per day for parking and free tram service to and from the terminal is provided. Expanded parking facilities will be included in future development plans.

OIA is accessible from the Interstate 10 and state Route 60. From Interstate 10, take Vineyard Avenue south directly to the airport. From state Route 60, take Grove Avenue north, then follow the signs.

A special taxi service, Airport Express, delivers passengers from the airport to their home or hotel. Direct lines to Airport Express are available at OIA.

The service asks that passengers traveling to the airport make a reservation is able to safely maneuver himself in and out of the van without aid of a driver.

For handicapped people who need assistance, Medi-Trans specializes in transportation for the wheelchair-bound. While most Medi-Trans service is to doctor and dental appointments, the service will also supply air-ambulance service to anywhere in the world. Medi-Trans has access to two airplanes and one Lear jet on call 24 hours per day.

Medi-Trans drivers are trained to deliver persons in wheelchairs from "indoors to indoors," never leaving a handicapped person stranded. The service will bill insurance companies but cannot accept Medicare. Interested persons should give Medi-Trans one-day advance notice.

Omni-Trans, the county bus service, has a special ride along free.

For all persons with no access to fixed bus routes, Dial-a-Ride at 629-3018 will provide door-to-door service as well. General fare is $1.50, and 75 cents for senior citizens.

Most OmniTrans customers use the buses running throughout the county. OmniTrans totalled nearly 5 million rides in 1980. Buses run from 5:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., depending on the route. General fare is 50 cents, and monthly passes are available for customer convenience.

OmniTrans has 82 fixed bus routes and 51 Dial-a-Lift and Dial-a-Ride cars to serve 479 square miles. For information on the fixed bus routes, call 983-2671 or write OmniTrans, 1700 W. Fifth St., San Bernardino, 92411.

Music, art theater flourish in valley

By MARGE GROSS
Staff Writer

Music, art and both amateur and professional theater entertainment flourishes in the valley area.

There also is increasing interest in the history of the community and the heritage founding fathers (and mothers) left behind.

The outstanding contribution to the culture of the area was the presentation of the old Ontario City Hall at 225 S. Euclid Ave. to a board of trustees for use as a museum and art center.

The beautiful L-shaped Spanish - Mediterranean structure was subsequently named the Museum of History and Art, Ontario. The north wing was then converted into the long-awaited gallery for the Chaffey Community Art Association. The gallery opened in March with an exhibit of the work of famous California watercolorists. The second exhibit displayed the works of students, and the third exhibit was "Women's World," a show featuring the art of 23 area women. This show was so popular it was extended.

The south gallery will be the museum, and other parts of the building will be refurbished into meeting rooms, dark room and areas for acquisitions, construction of exhibiting stands and making of graphics for programs, etc. Currently, there is a $100,000 fund drive in progress for the renovations needed.

In the field of amateur theater, the Gallery Theater at 125 E. C St., Ontario, is in its 15th year as a community theater. The current offering on weekends is "The Pirates of Penzance."

Area colleges — Chaffey, Cal Poly Pomona and the Claremont Colleges — provide a variety of theater offerings during the school year through the drama departments.

The Claremont Colleges offer professional productions in either Bridges Auditorium or Garrison Theater on the campus of the combined colleges. This coming 1981-82 season will have three series — the artist course, celebrity series, anniversary series and three special events.

Highlighting the artist course will be "The Mikado" on Jan. 30, and the Utah Symphony Orchestra on March 10. Celebrities will be Joel Grey on Oct. 24 and Red Skelton on April 23.

For the anniversary series, there will be the Pavarotti celebration on Jan.

22, Vincent Price in "Divisions and Delights" on Feb. 6 and the Vienna Choir Boys on Feb. 18.

A special holiday presentation Nov. 27 and 28 will be "The Nutcracker Ballet."

Ontario boasts one of the few opera groups, the West End Opera Association, in California. This is the 16th season the association has presented two operas. In the fall, "Madama Butterfly" by Puccini will be staged in Gardiner Spring Auditorium, Chaffey High School campus, Ontario.

The operas have professionals in the leading roles with a faithful, volunteer chorus of area men, women and children. For the past two seasons, the Ontario Civic Light Opera Association has presented major musicals in Gardiner Spring Auditorium with the Ontario Recreation Department as the sponsor. Because of the cutback of CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) funds, plans for another season have yet to be announced.

3 groups for children

Drama, galleries museums flourish

Area youngsters are exposed to the theater either as participants or as an audience through three groups.

The Charmed Circle Theatre Company, adult thespians and some children, present plays for young audiences in the Upland Elementary School auditorium.

The next presentation will be "The Further Adventures of Robin Hood" Aug. 28 and 29 and Sept. 4 and 5.

The Peanut Gallery of the Gallery Theater is a workshop for young actors, singers and dancers. Rehearsals are now in progress for the "Tom Sawyer" which will open Sept. 5. Shows are held Saturday mornings at 10 for four weeks.

The Actors' Repertory Theater and the Karousel Kids work together to stage popular shows for children using from 100 to 150 youngsters on the Garrison Theater stage. Actors' Repertory also produces musicals which are staged in Daily Theater, the University of La Verne.

For those who like to see professional and major musicals, the San Bernardino Civic Light Opera Association puts on headliner musicals with musical comedy celebrities in leading roles.

Other art associations in the area are the Upland Art Association, Associated Artists, Chino Art Association and the Fine Arts Foundation of Scripps College, Claremont. These art groups feature exhibits in galleries, business establishments and hospitals, and the foundation has a gallery on Scripps College campus.

In the Ontario City Library, a Model Colony Room holds artifacts, papers and memorabilia relating to the establishment of Ontario, known in the mid-1800s as the Model Colony.

The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center Museum, 825 W. 18th St., Upland, houses artifacts of western culture particularly as related to Upland and the surrounding area.

The Rex W. Wignall

Museum-Gallery on the Chaffey College campus sets up a variety of exhibits open to the public. These exhibits include shows by the art department faculty and students.

Also at Chaffey College is the Little Theater in which productions are staged at various times during the school year by the theater arts department. There is a plan to have an outdoor amphitheater on campus the summer of 1982 for productions "under the stars."

Music plays an important part at Christmas when Handel's "Messiah" is presented by the Ontario Oratorio Society as a holiday gift to the community. The singers are volunteers recruited from choirs of West End churches.

Programs brought in for the Community Concert

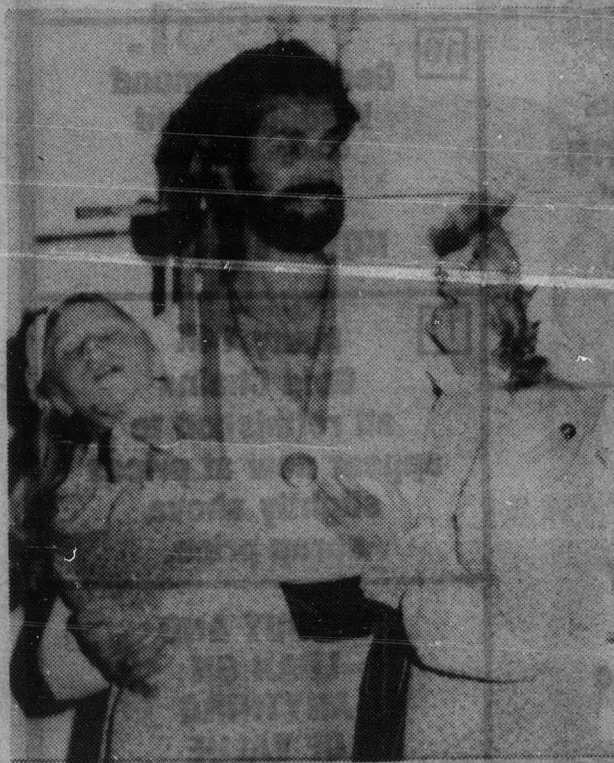

"Fantasticks" at The Little Theater, Ontario.

Association are staged in Gardiner Spring Auditorium, are offered for members only. A membership drive is held annually.

Each fall for the past several years, the West End Symphony Association has held free, back-to-back concerts for thousands of elementary school children. This is generally a spring project.

Historic home, adobe and mansion are open to visitors

By MARGE GROSS
Staff Writer

The preservation of historical sites of the area has been undertaken by the Pomona Valley Historical Society and the Casa de Rancho Cucamonga Historical Society.

The Rains Home or Casa de Rancho Cucamonga has been renovated after years of hard work. When purchased by San Bernardino County and turned over to the historical society, the house was a shambles.

This rancho was built in 1861 by John Rains for his wife and three children. After Rains was murdered, the home and property was owned by several families until the 1960 flood drove out the last family to live there.

In the years following, the casa was a haven for vandals. The destruction was vast, but in 10 years, the Historical Society has slowly but successfully restored the home.

Visitors are invited Wednesday through Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. No fee is charged. Tours may be arranged by appointment by writing to Casa de Rancho Cucamonga, P.O. Box 401, Rancho Cucamonga, CA 91730.

Historic sites in Pomona date to 1837 when two men were given a large grant to Rancho San Jose, the area which is now the city.

Don Ygnacio Palomares built La Casa Primera de Rancho San Jose. Later he was to build a larger adobe, Adobe de Palomares. Both ranchos have been restored by the Pomona Valley Historical Society and are open to the public.

La Casa Primera de Rancho San Jose is open from 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. The historic home is located at 1569 N. Park Ave.

The Palomares Adobe is open from 2 to 5 p.m. every day except for Mondays and major holidays. The large rancho is located at 491 E. Arrow Hwy.

A regal home which also has been restored by the Pomona Valley Historical Society is the Phillips Mansion, 2640 Pomona Blvd.

This two-story house was the first one built of brick in the area. Louis Phillips had the structure constructed in the 1860s as a focal point in the thriving community called Spadra.

The Phillips family lived there for many years, but during World War II it was converted into apartments for servicemen and their families. Later abandoned, the mansion was abused by vandals and was nearly torn down.

The Pomona Valley Historical Society rescued the home and over many years has restored it to its original elegance.

Visitors may tour the Phillips Mansion between 1 and 4 p.m. the first Sunday of each month.

West End served by four courts

The West End is served by the San Bernardino County Court, with a Superior Court branch in Ontario and Municipal Court branches in Ontario, Chino and Rancho Cucamonga.

West Valley Superior Court
The courthouse is located at 1540 N. Mountain Ave., Ontario, at the intersection of Sixth Street and Mountain Avenue. Jurisdiction is the West End and portions of Mt. Baldy. All felony criminal cases are heard, as well as out-of-custody juvenile cases in the Juvenile Court. Juvenile traffic cases are also heard here.

The Superior Court also hears all civil cases over $15,000 and all family law cases (divorce, child custody, support or visitation violations). Family law commissioner is Duane Thomas. Marriage licenses are also handled by the Superior Court. Judge Clifton L. Allen hears most adoption cases.

Juvenile cases are heard on Thursdays and Fridays by Judge Ferdinand Fernandez.

Superior Court judges are Richard C. Garner, supervising judge; Clifton L. Allen, Kenneth G. Ziebarth Jr. and Philip E. Schaefer.

West Valley Municipal Court
The courthouse is located at 1050 W. 6th St., Ontario. Jurisdiction is Ontario, Montclair, Upland and portions of Mt. Baldy.

Jury duty explained

Jury duty lists are compiled in San Bernardino from voter registration lists and lists of licensed drivers from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Prospective jurors are sent a card indicating their summons date. The day before they are to appear, jurors call a Code-a-Phone recording which tells them whether or not they are needed. If they are not, they wait for a second summons card. If they are, they report to the court and form a panel, from which jurors are selected for cases.

The jury duty period is 90 days, during which jurors are on call. During that time, prospective jurors either report for four days or, if picked for a jury, serve the duration of the trial.

Once a juror has served jury duty, his name is removed from the computer for one year.

All criminal cases start here. Preliminary hearings for felony cases and all misdemeanor cases are heard in Municipal Court. Traffic hearings are also handled. Night traffic court is Wednesday at 6 p.m., handled by either traffic commissioner Ray L. Craig, or Judge David C. Merriam.

22 YEARS POOL EXPERIENCE

Many opportunities to get involved

By LINDA BERGSTEDT
Panorama Editor

Many service organizations offer men and women the opportunity to become involved in community service throughout the West End area of San Bernardino County.

In addition to traditional men's and women's service clubs, there are hospital auxiliaries, patriotic organizations, clubs that help the blind and disabled, those who support culture and others of a fraternal nature.

As volunteers, women give many hours and donations to various community endeavors in projects ranging from sponsoring on-campus clubs to helping in hospitals and helping out children.

Women's service organizations for working women include the Soroptimist International clubs in both Ontario and Montclair, the Altrusa Club of Ontario-Upland, the Ontario-Upland Zonta Club and Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Upland, Ontario, Montclair, Chino and the new Foothill Valley BPW.

Mothers of young children are encouraged to join the Junior Women's Clubs, which offer a myriad of services to the community.

Among the many support groups for local hospitals and community agencies are: auxiliaries at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland, Ontario Community Hospital, Doctors' Hospital of Montclair and Chino, General Hospital; both groups now defunct; and Casa Alegre Auxiliary (Children's Home Society of California).

Women's Clubs in Ontario, Upland, Rancho Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair offer women the opportunity to become involved in civic affairs, historic projects, ecology drives, volunteer work and safety programs.

Service projects also are the byword of charitable organizations such as Assistance League of Upland, which supports the San Antonio Community Hospital Dental Center and the Girls Club of Cucamonga; the National Charity League, Foothill Chapter, where teen-age daughters make many items for local hospitals and service agencies; the Pomona Valley Transcribers Guild and the Pomona Valley Unit of Recording for the Blind, giving assistance to the blind and poorly sighted; and the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens Auxiliary, giving financial support to the OPARC School in Montclair.

For the culturally minded, there are the West End Opera Guild, which boosts the West End Opera

Association; the Foothill Philharmonic Committee, a support group for the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra; the Fine Arts

Foundation of Scripps College, Claremont; and several artists' groups including the Chaffey Community Art Association, the Associated Artists and the Chino Art Association. There also are auxiliaries for the Rex Wignall Museum at Chaffey College and for Casa de Rancho Cucamonga (The Rains House), the first presenting art exhibits, the second

Where to get involved

Also keeping local history intact is the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center in Upland, which has a museum and plans for further buildings.

For men in the West End, there are active Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and Optimist clubs in the area. These service groups do much for the community at large, and the Lions have special projects for the blind.

The Kiwanis clubs include the Upland Foothill, West End of Upland, Ontario, Ontario Parkway and Montclair. Besides the Ontario-Upland Jaycees and the Optimist Club of Ontario-Upland, there are Rotary clubs in Upland and Ontario.

The list of Lions clubs in the West End includes the Lions Breakfast Club and Lions Club in Upland, Euclid and Ontario Host in Ontario and Lions clubs in Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair.

Churches have their support groups in the many religious organizations for both men and women. Women's fellowships help out in many ways and raise funds for missions both here and abroad. There also is the Ontario-Upland Christian Businessmen's organization that meets Tuesday mornings.

Besides active Democratic and Republican clubs, there are patriotic organizations for veterans and their wives such as the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary, the Fleet Reserve, the Veterans of World War I and auxiliary as well as the Sons of Union Veterans.

Fraternal organizations available in the West End include: Elks Lodges in both Ontario and Rancho Cucamonga, Odd Fellows in Upland, Ontario and Chino, Masonic Lodges in Ontario and Upland as well as Mt. Baldy, a Moose Lodge in Montclair, Knights of Columbus and Sons of Italy in America.

Two anti-crime programs depending on anonymous information from the public are at work in the West End. Above left is the symbol for Ontario Crime Stoppers, a program which pays rewards for information leading to arrest in crimes committed within the Ontario city limits. Above right is the symbol of WeTIP's Witness Anonymous program. WeTIP started in the West End as a way for citizens to anonymously turn in drug pushers. It has grown over the years and now provides rewards for those providing information which leads to conviction of persons guilty of all kinds of major crimes. WeTIP is a statewide program.

Area has library system

By BRUCE THORNTON
Staff Writer

Two cities — Ontario and Upland — and San Bernardino County collaborate to provide library service for the West End area.

And in some cases, where the patrons can't go to the library, the library — in the form of a bookmobile — goes to the patrons.

County Librarian Barbara Anderson said the county library system has 25 branches and four bookmobiles.

County branches in the West End include Fontana, Rancho Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair. Bookmobile service is provided in Chino Hills, Guasti, Etiwanda and parts of Fontana and Ontario.

Anderson said bookmobiles visit retirement homes, mobile home parks, labor camps and other places where people can't use the traditional library service.

She explained that under state law, counties may establish their own library systems, as has been done in this county. Under the same law, individual cities may establish their own libraries or cities may contract with the county to provide library service.

Thus, Ontario and Upland operate their own libraries and Fontana, Rancho Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair have agreements with the county.

Here is basic information on the county's four West End libraries, including location, telephone number, the official in charge and the hours:

— Chino Branch Library,

"Summertime and the livin' is easy ... " for these two boys who have found a place to fish and soak up the sun. They rather resemble Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn except the storybooks characters didn't sit in chairs to fish and used sticks with bent pins as hooks on the string lines. They also had the Mississippi River to fish in while this is a mud hole near Guasti Regional Park.

"In the West End libraries," Anderson said, "the hours are arranged so there's a library open each evening, Monday through Thursday, at one of the four libraries."

While the libraries in Ontario and Upland are operated by the cities, they still have a connection with the county branches.

"We all belong to the Inland Library System," Anderson said. This is a cooperative system, she explained, under which a patron who holds a library card from one library can use it at the other libraries. The system also provides deliveries that allow materials to be returned to libraries within the system other than where they were checked out.

For example, you can check out a book from the Upland or Chino libraries using an Ontario library card. When you're ready to return it, you may take it to the Ontario Public Library and it will be returned.

"We have a delivery system that returns books each day using the San Bernardino-Riverside van," said Anderson, who has held her post almost seven years.

According to the county librarian, other materials available at the branches include records, cassettes, framed art prints, 16mm film, 8mm film and video cassettes.

"We also have microfilm of local newspapers and some periodicals," she said, "a local history collection, large print books for people with visual problems and access to talking books."

Library Director Harriett Covey of the Ontario Public Library, 215 E. C St., said the facility maintains the following hours: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The telephone number is 988-8481.

Covey, who assumed her post in January, said that for the fiscal year ended in June, the library had a total

Valley schools make reductions

By JIM MARXEN
Staff Writer

Faced with reduced funds from both the state and federal governments, local school districts prepared for the 1981-82 school year by making several cuts in their budgets.

Thousands of students will be going back in September to schools that offer reduced supplies and personnel.

Chaffey high schools

District officials warned that 1981-82 would be a year for austerity and that prediction is borne out in the district's budget. Students will be offered a five-period day with an option for an additional period. A six-period day was offered during the 1980-81 school year.

To accommodate a shorter in-class day, attrition was used during the summer to reduce the number of teachers.

When school begins Sept. 14, 12,505 students are expected to be on hand. The total marks a reduction of nearly 300 students from last year.

The district operates five comprehensive high schools, an alternative school, a continuation school and a school for the mentally retarded.

As happened last year, over 800 freshmen from Alta

Loma High School will be bused elsewhere. Instead of being sent to Montclair High School, however, they will attend Chaffey High School.

A sixth high school in Etiwanda is still being planned.

Ontario-Montclair

More than 15,100 students are expected to attend schools within the Ontario-Montclair School District when classes begin Sept. 14.

The district operates 21 elementary schools, one middle school and four junior high schools.

It also has a school for the developmentally handicapped and the orthopedically handicapped. A preschool program is also available.

The district serves the cities of Ontario and Montclair.

Crowding, cutbacks mark some schools in Pomona Valley area

Fontana Unified

Overcrowded conditions are expected to continue in the Fontana Unified School District.

Over 13,350 students are expected to attend classes when school opens Sept. 14.

Thirteen elementary schools, three junior highs and one high school will be open for students. The district also has one school for students with learning disabilities.

This summer the district is moving more relocatables onto its campuses to house over 1,000 additional students.

A new elementary school is expected to be completed in September 1982.

Chino Unified

There will be a reduction in the number of students attending year-round classes in the Chino Unified School District during 1981-82.

Instead, the district will offer more "standard" tract classes for its 14,500 students. School begins Sept. 14 for those on the standard tract. It began July 27 for the year-round students.

In addition, the district will open a new elementary school in south Ontario.

The district has 11 elementary, two intermediate schools and four high schools. It also operates an adult education facility.

Rancho Cucamonga schools

All four elementary districts serving Rancho Cucamonga will begin their school years Sept. 14.

The Etiwanda School District, which serves the eastern portion of the city and parts of Fontana, has one intermediate and one elementary school. Approximately 600 students are expected to attend classes next fall.

Rancho Cucamonga's rapid growth in the late 1970s had little effect on the district, but future development is expected to make a significant impact in the number of students attending classes there.

Nearly 2,700 students are expected in the Central School District which operates in the middle portion of the city.

The district has one junior high and three elementary schools.

Starting times for students have not yet been arranged because of possible changes in the busing program.

In the southern portion of the city, the Cucamonga School District operates two elementary schools and one middle school.

A school for preschoolers, special education students and kindergarten students is also available.

The district anticipates 1,215 students when classes begin.

The Alta Loma School District, which serves students in the northern sections of Rancho Cucamonga, expects approximately 4,500 students when school begins.

That figure marks a leveling-off in the number of students. The Alta Loma School District was hard-hit several years ago when new housing developments in the city caused overcrowded classrooms.

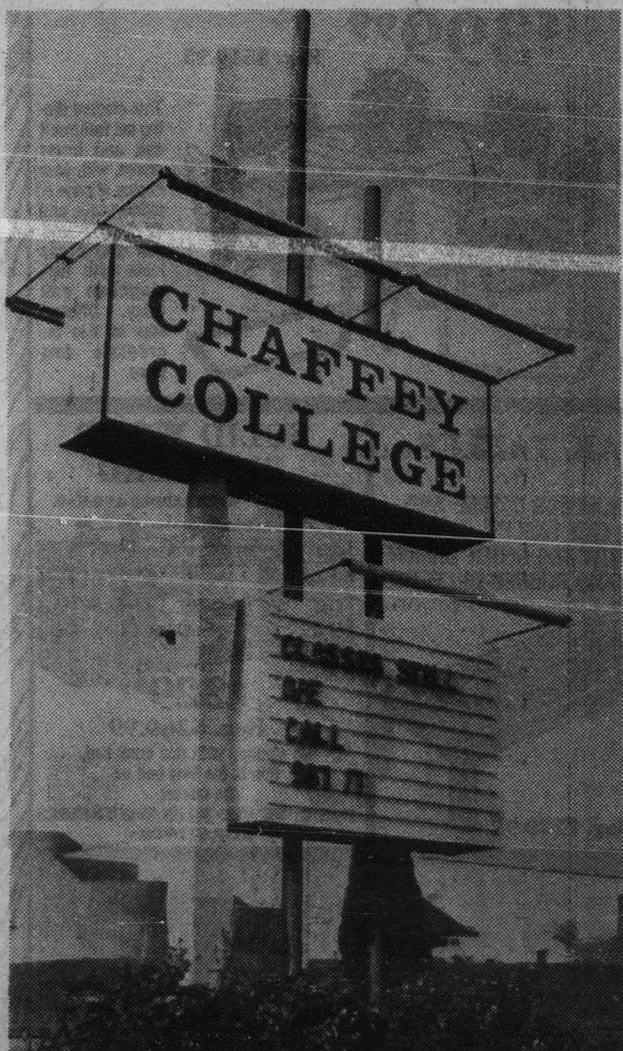

District officials hope to open the new Deer Canyon School during Christmas vacation. Students who will attend the school will attend either Alta Loma School or Jasper school until that time.

Mountain View district

One school operated by the Mountain View School District will serve students in southeast Ontario. District officials expect 852 students when school opens Sept. 14.

The school is open to students in kindergarten through eighth grade.

YOUR KEY TO VALLEY DINING

91 The DAILY REPORT, Thurs., Aug. 20, 1981 Upland News: Rancho Cucamonga Times: Montclair Tribune

1 BAXTER'S

"An Outrageously Great Place" serving "Outrageously Great Food", Baxter's is one of the most exciting new restaurants in the foothill area. Its decor is bright and whimsical, its lounge a lively gathering spot, and the food is as outrageously great as the name implies. From the moment you step inside, you can expect the unexpected. Take your pick of six separate dining areas, each a reproduction of an authentic American tradition. The menu, as varied as the antique bric-a-brac adorning the walls, offers even more surprises. "Loaded Appetizer" selections include Fried Cheese with hot spices and a dunking sauce, Egg Rolls with apricot sauce and hot mustard, and delicious Potato Skins. Other choices on the all-day menu include specialties like Chicken Toranaga, fantastic burgers, ribs from the hickory smoker, and Baxter's award-winning 100 MPH Chili. Baxter's is open for lunch, dinner and Sunday Brunch from 11:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Sundays.
309 East Foothill Blvd. (adjacent to Coco's), Pomona. Phone 596-6466.

2 BRANIGAN'S

This restaurant, the former Castaway restaurant in Pomona, has recently been given a new lease on life by new ownership. Activity abounds at Branigan's as the final stages of remodeling are completed to make this an attractive, turn-of-the-century family restaurant featuring good foods in an atmosphere of friendly Irish hospitality. Co-owner and General Manager Pedro Escala, Jr., has conceived a luncheon and dinner menu featuring Leprechaun Burgers and Michael McManus Sandwiches for lunch from $3.50 to seafoods, steaks and combinations on the dinner menu starting at $5.95. Most dinners are in the $7.00 to $10.00 range and, along with the magnificent view afforded by this hilltop restaurant, the dining experience at Branigan's promises to be excellent. The restaurant is open and excitement is generating for a grand opening early in September. The restaurant accepts most charge cards, is open daily from 11:00 a.m., and offers an outstanding Champagne Brunch each Sunday.

The decor is relaxing, reminding one of a clean little coffeehouse in the San Francisco Bay area. The restaurant is open from 6:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday through Friday for breakfast and lunch. Its location makes Cafe St. Germain a convenient lunch stop for downtown Pomona shoppers and businessmen.

8 JUSTIN MCFLY'S

Justin McFly's Bar and Grill is a turn-of-the-century style restaurant specializing in good food and excellent drinks. The restaurant, a sister of others in California, plays on the mythical history of the illustrious McFly family, an assortment of adventurers who have made their mark in history. Thus, other restaurants are named Sly McFly, Sky McFly, Merlin McFly, and the local establishment, Justin McFly's, continues the family tradition by offering food and drink called Spanish McFly, McFly's Sauces, etc. With this bit of whimsy as background, Justin McFly's draws a congenial crowd with a menu offering everything from potato skins to hamburgers, steaks to seafoods. The central bar area, with brass railings surrounding a gleaming bar, dispenses generous drink and conversation. Justin McFly's is open Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 a.m. daily except Saturday (open at 5:00 p.m.) A Sunday Brunch is offered from 10:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and dinners are served from 5:00 p.m. Reservations for parties of 5 or more are requested. Entertainment is offered nightly from 9:00 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.
195 Central Ave. (corner of Ninth), Upland. Phone 946-6843.

9 NAROD'S RESTAURANT

If you're looking for an inexpensive American foods restaurant which offers country/western entertainment for dancing after dinner, you'll want to look in on Narod's Restaurant in Chino. The primarily beef menu offers everything from hamburgers to steaks with BBQ ribs and grilled beef sandwiches in between. Prices range from $1.95 for the hamburger (served with salad and fries) to $7.95 for a steak and crab dinner which is served with salad, baked potato, or home fries. The restaurant spotlights country western entertainment groups Tuesday through Saturday, and the bar and dance floors are active every night with regulars who have made Narod's a habit for many years. The present day Firehouse Inn is a gracious dinnerhouse with comfortable and luxurious seating for 200 diners. The restaurant offers the most extensive selection of fresh seafoods in the Pomona Valley, both Eastern and Western specialty entrees being available. A popular feature of Firehouse Inn is the Oyster Bar in which clams, oysters-on-the-half-shell and other seafoods are prepared in an intimate atmosphere. The Daily Report through the years

On the morning of Sept. 12, 1910, a stocky blond Ontario editor named Fred E. Unholz began writing the first editorial for his new daily newspaper. He wrote, in part:

"Modern conditions demand that daily newspapers be printed. All our neighbors have them. If the advertisers of Upland and Ontario knew how we have been besieged to start a daily, they would at least realize what advertising in such a paper is worth.

"Believe us, we are not starting this paper because we are particularly fond of work. We have always found about all we wanted to attend to on a weekly. Our patrons demand such a paper, however, and we are making our feeble effort at giving them what they want.

"With things adjusted after a time, we hope to improve the paper and make the daily in the same class as the weekly now published by this company, the best thing possible for a town the size of Ontario."

The size of Ontario was then 4,274. Upland's population was a mere 2,384. Yet the two communities appeared to be ready for a daily newspaper.

It was called the Daily Republican on inception, a name which was changed in 1912, when two brothers, Cromble and H.L. Allen, bought the property. They wanted something less partisan at the top of their front page. They searched the titles of American newspapers and could find no duplication of the name finally chosen — The Daily Report. In its first listing in Ayer's Directory, the paper was termed independent.

The Daily Report was founded in a basically agricultural community which had been established in 1883 by two engineering brothers, George and William Chaffey, who immigrated to the area from Canada.

Citrus groves covered the areas served by the paper and these served as the communities' economic backbone for decades. Although the area is in transition from agricultural influence to an industrial atmosphere, farming still plays a role, with wine grapes, dairies, poultry ranches, hay and corn providing a contribution to the local economy.

The Daily Report's fore-runners were published weekly. The first was the Ontario Fruit Grower, printed in Riverside by I.M. Holt when Ontario was no more than a promotional idea in the mind of George Chaffey. It heralded the town's founding in 1882 but lasted only a couple of years. The Grower advertised the irrigation colonies of Etiwanda and Ontario to the eastern United States.

The second was the Ontario Record. In 1885 young E.P. Clarke came to survey the Model Colony in its third year and to decide whether it could support a local paper. The two stores and a scattering of houses made him skeptical. He doubted "whether I could find 25 subscribers here." But he went ahead and installed his press in the spare corner of a lumber warehouse. The weekly continued to be published for the next 78 years.

In his first year, Clarke claimed a circulation of 500. Two years later the town had 1,500 in population and the Record claimed 768 subscribers.

Still standing is the daily's first home at the northwest corner of Lemon Avenue and Holt Boulevard, then A Street. These four pages a day were cranked out on a flatbed press. This excellent local organ played an important role in the colony's development.

In 1897 the Clarke brothers bought the Riverside Press and soon after that the Ontario paper was left to a new editor, A.A. Piddington, who had been on the staff more than 10 years.

Meanwhile, in 1888, the Ontario Observer had been launched by a fiery Democrat, R.J. Blackburn, whose clever comments gave an added spice to life in general. In 1898, soon after George Chaffey's return from Australia, he bought both papers combining them as the Record Observer. R.C.P. Smith became the editor and later I.S. Watson took over duties from May 3, 1901 to Sept. 5, 1902. With the Sept. 13 issue it was again called the Ontario Record, becoming a semi-weekly from June 3, 1903 to Feb. 27, 1904. The paper was published weekly after that time until 1963.

The Daily Report entered a new era more than four decades ago with a change in ownership. In 1930, the Allens sold to Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Appleby, who became publisher. Appleby was the holder of a Phi Beta Kappa Key for scholastic excellence, a veteran of World War I who saw service in France as an AEF infantry officer, and a newspaperman of exceptional ability and even greater promise.

Following her husband's death in 1936, Mrs. Appleby (later Jerene Appleby Harnish) assumed the direction of The Daily Report. She guided the firm through nearly a quarter of a century, serving longer than any previous publisher of this newspaper. Mrs. Harnish died July 4 at age 86.

It was during the 1940-50 era that Ontario and its neighbors changed from sleepy villages to bustling suburban communities. The population of Ontario was more than 60,000 when Mrs. Harnish stepped down as publisher after she and her two sons, Carlton and Andrew, sold the property in 1965.

In April of that year, The Daily Report was acquired by the Progress Bulletin Publishing Co. in Pomona. That firm was owned by Charles T. Richardson and his father, A.T. Richardson. The younger brother became the publisher of The Daily Report.

An immediate expansion program was begun and more than $600,000 was spent for a new pressroom with a 64-page Scott rotary press, and for remodeling of existing facilities. Work was completed in November 1966, and during the following January, a $30,000 PDP-8 Computer for justifying, hyphenating and spacing unjustified punch tape was installed.

In November 1967, both the Progress Bulletin and The Daily Report, along with the other six Progress Bulletin papers in the Pomona Valley, were purchased by the Donrey Media Group. Donald W. Reynolds became The Daily Report's president. The title of publisher was abolished and Bill Metcalf, a longtime advertising executive for the Progress Bulletin, became the general manager. In 1973 he was named vice president of Donrey Media, and was replaced as general manager by Jay Holmes, a longtime employee of The Daily Report.

The newspaper, published seven days a week, serves the communities of Western San Bernardino County — Ontario, Upland, Chino, Montclair, Rancho Cucamonga, Guasti and Fontana. The daily circulation is approximately 34,000 and the Sunday circulation exceeds 35,000.

The Daily Report has received many awards for excellence. This year, the paper won the prestigious John Swett award for educational reporting and the 1980 Reporting Excellence Award in the Donrey Media Group competition.

County, city libraries

circulation of 516,299, compared with 406,415 the preceding fiscal year.

She said total volumes exceeded 180,850.

According to Covey, the library has one of the largest collections of Braille books in the state and Braille transcription facilities.

In addition to regular library facilities on the main floor, such as book shelves, volumes, periodicals and reading tables, there is a basement level. It houses the Model Colony Room, the audiovisual department, the Braille room, the children's department and the music room, which serves as the meeting room.

According to Archivist Leonard Wheeler, the Model Colony Room is a local history library, which also features county, state and early western American history.

The Model Colony Room has a collection of old Ontario newspapers and the works of local authors, as well as a collection of city records.

Wheeler said it also has "a minimuseum, with artifacts and pieces having to do with the history of Ontario."

The Upland Public Library moved into its present facility, a two-story structure at 450 N. Euclid Ave., in 1969. It formerly had occupied the old Carnegie Library at the northeast corner of D Street and First Avenue, now the city recreation building.

Linda Yao, the library director, listed the facility's hours as Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. and closed on Sunday.

Yao is proud of the contacts the community has with the library.

"In the population range of cities of our size," she said, "in 1979-80, we had the second highest number of reference questions in California."

Items checked out by patrons in fiscal 1980-81 numbered 241,355 compared with 230,585 in 1979-80. Active membership grew last fiscal year to 56,925 from 54,610 the preceding year.

Yao said the library has approximately 90,850 volumes and more than 260 periodical subscriptions, as well as an audio-visual collection.

This is how much turbocharged diesel you should expect for $13,000 today.

From the second-largest car-maker in Europe comes the Peugeot 505 Turbodiesel. So high is its quality—and so well is it equipped—that some observers think it may well be undervalued in today's market.

The $12,980* price of the Peugeot Turbodiesel includes power-assisted steering, power-assisted disc brakes, reclining front seats, 5-speed overdrive gearbox, and Michelin steel-belted radial tires.

There is also the 505S Turbodiesel at $15,510, which adds this special equipment: air conditioning, electric sunroof, electric windows, cruise control, digital AM/FM stereo radio with Seek/Scan tuning and four speakers, central door locking, and alloy wheels.

The only other extra-cost options are automatic transmission ($360) and metallic paint ($290).

Also available: non-turbocharged diesel and fuel-injected gasoline models, priced from $13,520 to $10,990*.

See your dealer for details of Peugeot's limited warranties.

*Manufacturer's P.O.E. suggested retail prices. Actual prices may vary according to dealer. Destination charges, state and local taxes, dealer preparation, if any, and license fees (all of which may vary) are extra.

2 regional parks are within easy reach of area residents

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Want to get away from it all on a summer day or weekend, but can't travel long distances to the beaches or the mountains? There's an answer for you.

San Bernardino County has two regional parks within easy reach of West End residents for picnicking, camping, swimming and fishing.

One of them — cucamonga - Guasti Regional Park in Ontario — is the third busiest of the nine county regional parks. Its main attraction in the summer is the swimming lagoon, three-quarters of an acre bit with a sandy bottom and filtered water.

"That's why this park is a big (visitor) draw in the summer," said Richard Fry, park superintendent.

The other — Prado Regional Park, south of Ontario — is not yet fully developed and draws fewer visitors.

The 58-acre lake at Cucamonga-Guasti is stocked with fish and the swimming lagoon is completed, surrounded with trees.

The park is expected to accommodate more than 400,000 visitors for the year ending June 30, far more than the 150,000 who are expected to visit Prado Regional Park.

The popular swimming lagoon isn't the only attraction at Cucamonga-Guasti's 45 acres.

There is plenty of space for picnickers, with 200 tables and barbecue grills. The four sheltered areas can accommodate groups of up to 300. Small groups can use the less expansive areas.

Reservations and a non-refundable deposit of $25 are required for group picnics. This assures access to barbecue grills, water, electrical outlets, and

THE REAL BEAUTY OF THIS FIRE IS THE WAY IT SLASHES FUEL BILLS.

An ordinary fireplace draws in room air and sends it up the chimney - waste you just can't afford.

A Fuego fireplace insert turns your fireplace into an efficient heater. Because it burns with the damper 92% closed, heated air is vented back into the room.

Enough to substantially cut your fuel bills. The Fuego uses 1/3 as much wood so you spend less time working - more time relaxing.

All valley cities await large growth

Upland has 526 acres of vacant residential land left with another 350 in the city sphere of influence. There's 150 acres of vacant commercial land left and 370 acres of vacant industrial land.

The closure of Ontario's General Electric flatiron plant will mean the loss of about 1,000 jobs but is hoped that other industries moving into the area will take up the slack.

The city, he said, has the potential to build 2,895 more houses and 862 more apartments.

According to Gary Collins, Chino associate planner, that city imposed a housing moratorium a year ago. Also, the economy has put a damper on home construction but commercial and industrial developments are booming. "We've been getting much larger buildings than we did in the past."

He said the average size of a Chino industrial or commercial building used to be about 5,000 square feet. Now 100,000 square feet is no longer surprising.

Montclair is "pretty stable," according to Director of Community Development Rob Clark. "In the commercial and industrial we have a 35 percent vacancy factor in what is available.... Residentially we have about 30 percent expected growth."

"Population-wise we've stayed almost stable over the last 10 years. We've been adding households but the population has remained about the same."

Montclair, he said, is surrounded on all sides but the south by other cities so there is little room to expand.

The city's strong point is commercial development, he said. It contains the Montclair Plaza and Montclair Entertainment Plaza. "We're in a fortunate situation having a regional center in the area," he said.

But growth isn't limited to just new buildings. Glenn Rankin, manager of the Ontario office of the Employment Development Department, feels jobs count too. "For the future, things look real good. We haven't had any fabulously big places move in lately but there are new places moving in all the time."

Current unemployment rates in the valley are actually a little higher than either the federal or state average but the local rate has been dropping during the last year and Rankin said the recent flurry of industrial and commercial development could signal better economic times for the West End.

The local rate is now about 7.9 percent, compared to 7.6 percent nationally and 6.5 percent for the state, Rankin said. But last year the valley rate was 8.6 percent while the state was 7.6 percent.

"I personally think the future of the West End is better than the rest of the two-county (San Bernardino and Riverside counties) area," he said. "What with the airport expansion I can't help but think ours will be better."

The closure of Ontario's General Electric flatiron plant will mean the loss of about 1,000 local jobs but other industries moving in will take up the slack, he said.

The city of Ontario has a labor force of 34,975 and 32,902 of them are employed, he said. Rankin said the number of unemployment claims being filed is dropping locally.

"A year ago, in June 1980, 14,300 claims were filed but this year about 13,000 claims have been filed; so you see, it's down for the year," he said.

The types of jobs available haven't changed too much except for agriculture, according to Rankin. Farming is no longer king in the West End. "I can remember 10 years ago this office would furnish 800 or 900 people for two weeks to a month for grape harvests. Now we provide a couple of hundred."

Introducing . . . BRIDGESTONE Super Filler STEEL BELTED RADIALS

Bridgestone advanced tire technology. "You can feel it when you drive," says noted golfer Lee Trevino. SuperFiller steel-belted radials have an unusually stiff bead area of super-hard rubber combined with a flexible sidewall.

SuperFiller tires are designed for comfort and performance, and have a tread pattern specially designed for long wear.

212V SuperFiller steel-belted radial. A-p-metric 75-series tire for most domestic and some imported cars. Has a wide, aggressive tread designed for long tread wear, quiet running, added traction and fuel economy. Has two tough steel belts, plus one or two polyester cord plies. Tubeless original equipment whitewall.

"You can feel it when you drive."
